

CONTENTS

Foreword	v
by Helga Zepp-LaRouche Chairman, Schiller Institute
Introduction:
Brief Is the Pain, the Joy Shall Be Eterne	xi
by William F. Wertz, Jr.
POETRY	1
DRAMA
The Virgin of Orleans	33
Homage to the Arts	163
HISTORY
Introduction to The History of the Revolt of the United Netherlands Against Spanish Rule	177
AESTHETICS AND PHILOSOPHY
Love, Virtue, Friendship	195
Philosophical Letters	197
On the Pathetic	227
On the Sublime	255
Thoughts Concerning the Use of the Common and Base in Art	273
On the Necessary Limits in the Use of Beautiful Forms	281
On Naïve and Sentimental Poetry	307
On the Moral Use of Aesthetic Manners	399
On Epic and Dramatic Poetry	409

POETRY

From the Early Years (1776–1781)

Amalia

From the Anthology of 1782

Friendship

Group from Tartarus

Classical Poetry (1788–1805)

Genius

The Antique to the Northern Wanderer

The Singers of Antiquity

The Diver

The Antiques at Paris

The Glove

The Ring of Polycrates

The German Muse

Longing

Cassandra